

SAN Update
November 17, 2014

Texas Governor Declares November ‘Aviation Appreciation Month’

For the third year in a row, Texas Governor Rick Perry signed a proclamation declaring November 2014 as ‘Aviation Appreciation Month.’ Governor Perry, an advocate for aviation in his state, noted the importance of aviation to the people, businesses, economy, and government agencies that rely on air transportation on a daily basis. Annually, aviation contributes $59.5 billion to the Texas economy and employs 51,000 certified pilots.

Click here for more information on aviation in Texas and here for more information on general aviation across the United States.