New York Legislature Reviewing Tax Exemption on GA Aircraft

Legislation is under review in the New York Assembly and Senate to exempt the purchase of general aviation aircraft from the state's sales and use tax. The NATA State Advocacy Network reported on the importance of a tax exemption on general aviation in New York last year (click here) and again encourages members in New York to contact their assembly members and senators of the importance the exemption would have to an increase of job growth, tax revenue, airplane sales, registered aircraft and competition for aviation revenue with neighboring states.
