Hendricks to Speak at First Annual Cincinnati Business Aviation Symposium

Reynolds Jet Management will host the first annual Cincinnati Business Aviation Symposium (CBAS2014) on the campus of Northern Kentucky University on September 5th. The goals of CBAS2014 are three-fold: Bring together the leading business aviation companies and flight departments from the tri-state area centered on Cincinnati, including the metro areas of Cincinnati, Dayton, Lexington and Louisville; present the most current and relevant topics that affect us all; provide an opportunity to network and work together to build a stronger local business aviation community. Included in the speaker line-up are Robert Sumwalt, Board Member, NTSB; Tom Hendricks, President, NATA; Joe Moeggenberg, President, ARGUS International; Kent Jackson, Partner, Jackson and Wade; and Eric Rodriguez, Program Manager, GA Office of Field Operations, CBP. CBAS2014 will be held in the state-of-the-art Digitorium on the campus of Northern Kentucky University on September 5, 2014. "We are excited about bringing this opportunity to our local business aviation community," said Al Mann, Reynolds Jet Management Director of Operations, "we have a fantastic line-up of presenters and topics."
